In a bleak world devoid of trees, Last Tree Standing tells the tale of a young dystopian girl named Lexie, who befriends a peculiar being – half-man, half-tree.

Last Tree Standing is the most recent work from Sydney based director Agnes Baginska, recipient of a full scholarship from David Lynch for her previous award-winning short Milkmaid.

Last Tree Standing is a film where magic and realism, live action and animation, the past, the present and the future coexist together, creating one coherent visionary tale.
